Foreign direct investment happens when an individual or business owns 10% or more of a foreign company. 1 ¶ If an investor owns less than 10%, the International Monetary Fund (IMF) defines it as part of their stock portfolio. A 10% ownership doesn't give the individual investor a controlling interest in the foreign company.

investment that China has received since it started opening its economy. Using the tools of economic impact analysis, the author estimates that around one-third of China's GDP in recent years has been generated by the investments, operations, and supply chains of foreign invested companies. In addition, foreign companies have developed industries, created suppliers and distributors, introduced modern technologies, improved business practices, modernized management training, improved sustainability performance, and helped shape China's legal and regulatory systems. These impacts have helped China become the world's second largest economy, its leading exporter, and one of its leading destinations for inward investment. The book provides a powerful analysis of China's policies toward foreign investment that can inform policy makers around the world, while giving foreign companies tools to
